

Information for adult social care providers

Covid-19 and Flu

Bulletin 130 – 25 February 2022

Dear Colleagues,

‘Living with COVID-19’: national plan

Following an announcement on Monday, the Government’s objective is to enable the country to manage COVID-19 like other respiratory illnesses. The health and social care sectors have been significantly impacted, and the professionalism, skill and experience of staff continues to be recognised.

Read the Government’s plan for living with COVID-19.

From 24 February, the Government has removed the legal requirement to self-isolate following a positive test, however they do advise that those who test positive should continue to stay at home and avoid contact with other people. Due to the higher risk nature of health and social care settings, the isolation advice for staff members working in these settings has not changed.

Care home residents, and those in receipt of adult social care at home and other care settings, are often amongst the most vulnerable in society to COVID-19. The Government will continue to support the adult social care sector with the following protections:

- Supporting and encouraging the take-up of vaccines amongst care recipients and staff, including any further doses that may be recommended by JCVI for COVID-19 and other infections
- Guidance on precautions for visitors and workers in adult social care
- Providing access to free PPE to the end of March 2023 or until the UK IPC guidance on PPE usage for COVID-19 is amended or superseded (whichever is sooner).

As a part of living sustainably with COVID-19, by 1 April the Government will publish updated IPC guidance. This will replace current COVID-19 IPC guidance for care homes, home care and other adult social care services. The Government will continue to work with local authorities and care providers to respond to outbreaks in care settings and manage local workforce pressures.

From 1 April 2022, universal free testing will stop, however it is expected that free symptomatic testing will remain available to social care staff.

Updated guidance for staff adult social care settings was published yesterday (24 February 2022).

Please continue with current protective measures that you have in place: testing as per the guidance, including enhanced testing during an outbreak. If a staff member tests positive, they should stay at home until they receive two negative lateral flow tests, 24 hours apart, from day 5.

System pressures

There is currently high demand on health and social care services across LLR. Thank you for your continued dedication to ensuring that people receive a care and support package in their own home or begin a care home placement in a timely way, which in turn allows the wider health and social care system to operate safely and effectively.

We thank home care businesses for doing everything that you can to accommodate requests for packages of support, including prompt responses to requests for care, early package start dates, and creative recruitment campaigns to build workforce capacity for future requests.

Care workers explain why they chose to have their COVID-19 booster vaccine

See and hear care workers across the country explain why they chose to get their COVID-19 booster vaccine in this short video.

A booster dose of the COVID-19 vaccine improves the protection you have from your first two doses. It also helps give you longer-term protection against serious illness from COVID-19.

Pop-up vaccination clinics

Further pop-up vaccination clinics have been confirmed for the next few days. Sometimes, opening times may change or clinics are stood down, so please check the website for the latest information before you travel.

Residential care fee review – extended deadline

In bulletin 129 we reported that a review of the local care home market had begun. We explained the background to this work, the role of Care Analytics, and asked for your help in completing a simple survey to inform their work to estimate the cost of care in Leicestershire. We have extended the deadline to Monday 8 March following feedback from EMCARE.

We urge you to take part in the survey. It is your opportunity to influence the commissioning process and the prices paid by the council for care home placements. The more care homes that respond to the survey, the better the council will be able to develop a sustainable fee rate structure.
