Each day will have a keynote speech and 3 workshops

If you choose to book on both days, there is a discount - Search for

The Big Conference '2 Day Discount' - For All EYFS Practitioners (8037)

The Big Conference - For All EYFS Practitioners (8036) Friday, 8 March 2019 - 09:30 to 16:30

NSPCC National Training Centre, 3 Gilmour Close, LE4 1EZ

Keynote speaker – Julie Fisher will consider the strategies employed by adults to extend children’s thinking and how stop this, at times, becoming interference. She will consider the importance of an environment that is conducive to conversation; how effective adults tune in to children’s thinking in order to maintain the learning momentum and, most of all, how adults need to learn to talk less and listen more!

Julie Fisher’s workshop is entitled: “Who Is Leading the Learning?”

The workshop builds on Julie’s keynote. It will explore the difference between interactions when practitioners have planned for learning and interactions when children are free to plan their own learning.

Kirstine Beeley will be delivering a workshop on transition and the characteristics of effective learning.

The Big Conference - For All EYFS Practitioners (8038) Saturday, 9 March 2019 - 09:30 to 16:30

NSPCC National Training Centre, 3 Gilmour Close, LE4 1EZ

Keynote speaker - Kirstine Beeley will consider the importance of transition and the characteristics of effective learning in the early years.

Kirstine’s workshop builds on her keynote and will also be on transition and the characteristics of effective learning.

Penny Cartwright will be delivering a workshop on Effective transitions for young children which will consider:

- the importance of transitions (from home to nursery/school and nursery to school)
- the key principles which underpin the transition process
- the role of the key person in supporting children's transitions
- a range of simple and practical ideas which support effective transitions for all children
- their current practice and ways this can be developed further

The Early Years Inclusion and Childcare Service will deliver the third workshop which will focus on School Readiness across Leicestershire and the toolkits for early years providers and schools.
